MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Operations Personnel Required for IDEALIST Detachment,
25X1C

1. The operational requirements listed below are based on following assumptions:

- a. That a 30 minute reaction time will meet the requirement for launching aircraft.
- b. That vulnerability periods will be established in order that increased readiness status can be assumed to insure a 30 minute reaction timing.
- c. That 10 to 12 hour notice will be given prior to launching during other than a period of vulnerability.
- d. That an increased readiness status (vulnerability) period will not be required for more than several days without intervals of at least as many days of non alert time.
- e. That operational mission durations will normally not exceed 4 to 5 hours.
- f. That pilots can be rotated on approximately 8 hour shifts on alert on base during increased alert periods.
- g. That missions can be standardized to preclude excessive flight planning and briefing for each launch requirement.
- h. That two aircraft will satisfy operational requirements and that sufficient periods of non alert will allow proficiency flying and aircraft maintenance.
